Key2Flex introduces Adobe Flex development “Flex Know-How” video sessions

Mar 08, 2010 – Key2Flex, the first and only Adobe Flex Solution Partner in the Philippines, is today announcing it has launched its first “Flex Know-How” video session on youtube and at www.key2flex.com. Aimed at promoting Adobe Flex technology and the expert know-how of the developers of Key2Flex, this first video is untitled “Flex Applications Interface and Ergonomics”.

In a little less than 7 minutes, Key2Flex highlights the many advantages brought by the Flex technology but also, and more strikingly, the in-house know-how of its developers in order to achieve productive and optimized Flex developments.

This first video focuses on user interface and ergonomics which showcase the user experience revolution led by Adobe Flex in the RIAs (Rich Internet Applications.) Flex enables enterprises to create highly interactive, expressive applications that dramatically enhance user experience, increase customer satisfaction, and boost user productivity. In promoting its UI (user interface) know-how, Key2Flex also makes a point to remind that it is a leading provider of Adobe Flex development because it backs its Front-end expertise by an even stronger experience in back-end with an extensive list of technology mastered such as BlazeDS, Oracle, MySQL, JAVA, Hibernate, and others.

SOLUTION PARTNER

Key2Flex's business solutions can bring close-to-real time responses, throughout the World, by the combination of Adobe Flex technology and innovative communication protocols such as BlazeDS. Our developers came to specializing in Flex to respond to the concerns of clients for responsive, stable and fast business applications. Key2Flex, Adobe Flex Development Philippines, is looking forward broadcasting more of its “know-how” video sessions in the future. More at www.key2flex.com
